MINER OF THE WEEK

Rye Patch Gold Corp. Continues To Move Up. To Find Gold, Go Where It's Been Found Before.

The shares had a huge rally on news recently and now we got more good news coupled with the newer 2012 precious metals rallies.

"Vancouver, British Columbia, January 5, 2012 - Rye Patch Gold Corp (TSX.V: RPM; OTCQX: RPMGF) ("Rye Patch" or the "Company") reports results of the completed Phase 1 drill program at the 100% controlled Garden Gate Pass Project (GGP)." -Data from the Rye Patch Company website. Chart from BigCharts.com

"HIGHLIGHTS:"

- Drilling confirms the ore host rocks at Barrick's Cortez Hills, Red Hill and Goldrush are present within GGP property;
- Carlin-type alteration including silicification and decalcification encountered in five of six drill-holes;
- Drill-holes in the Western and Eastern target zones encountered thick intervals of elevated gold, arsenic and antimony; and,
- Sufficient evidence of a Carlin-type system is present to warrant follow-up core drilling program.

MINER OF THE WEEK

“The results are very encouraging and require immediate follow up. The initial three drill-holes drilled in 1991 leading to the discovery of the Cortez Mine's 20-million ounce Pipeline gold deposit returned one ore-grade drill-hole, 91-902, and two drill-holes with Carlin-style alteration and no gold. 91-902 had 901 previous drill-holes completed over 30 years in the district before the Pipeline deposit was discovered. The two drill-holes with no gold were within 300 meters of what would ultimately become the main Pipeline gold deposit. The important take away from Rye Patch's drilling program is the right rocks, the right alteration in one of the most prolific gold trends in the world. This spring drilling will resume using the knowledge of the first six drill-holes as vectors toward a possible new discovery”, William C. Howald, President and CEO of Rye Patch Gold Corp.”
